Foreword

Working Together

During the academic year of 1961-62 I had the pleasure of working with the Agriculture Alumni Association in preparing for the Homecoming Week End.

Among the Alumni working on the program were a number of my former students and many others I had not met before. I do remember some of these active Alumni having showed dissatisfaction while students and having criticized many of the programs and activities which took place while they were students.

I was amazed at the drive and sincerity of work our formerly dissatisfied students had put into making the overall Homecoming Weekend a success. Everyone of them felt that it was his duty to work, sweat, and carry out the details of the event assigned to him. It was a wonderful experience I had with our graduates.

May I take this opportunity to congratulate the Faculty of Agricultural Sciences for having discreetly and quietly cultivated the readiness and ability into our students to undertake work with responsibility and make out of them competent citizens. The help we received from the graduates was a sincere appreciation of the undergraduate program and a wonderful satisfaction to the Faculty.

To the graduates and graduating students I wish to say that we are all here to work with you and prepare you for the outside life, and it is only after you go out to work that you fully appreciate our program and look back at us with pride for having given you an overall basic training that will fit your needs no matter where you are.

Editor's Note

Dear Fellow Students

I think this is the last separate Yearbook that we will have in the School of Agriculture. It is sure that all of us know to what extent the Yearbook reflects our School in all its aspects in an individualistic way. But this individualistic spirit will not exist any longer. The university will have a unified Yearbook representing most of the societies at the A.U.B.

There is something, we can share in this unified Yearbook, something hard to name but precious. Maybe it is that sense that we all belong to one community, to one student "body". What ever it is, it is something which, once shared can never be lost or forgotten. Let us call it "UNITY".

ALI AYOUB

President's Word

A few weeks ago I had the opportunity to meet with members of The Agriculture Chapter of the Alumni Association during their Homecoming to celebrate the 10th anniversary of the establishment of the Faculty of Agricultural Sciences.

It is now a great pleasure to salute you for successfully completing the course leading to the «Ingenieur Agricole» diploma and the «Bachelor of Science in Agriculture» degree, and to wish you success in your future careers.

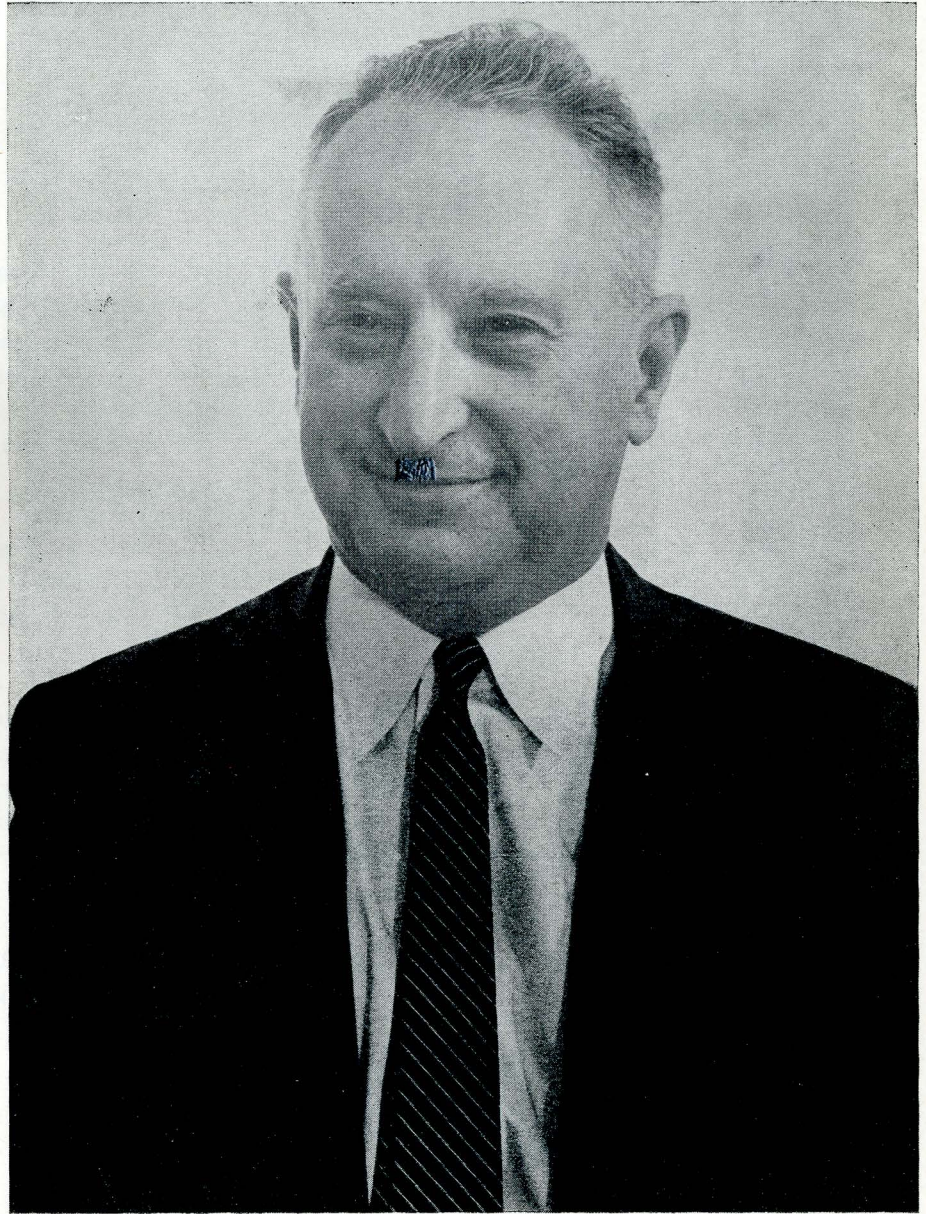

Though the practice of agriculture is as old as man himself, the profession of scientific agriculture in this part of the world is relatively new. You are among the pioneers of this profession in this area.

During your stay at this University you were able to study both the theory of scientific agriculture in the classrooms and laboratories, and also its practical application on the AUB Farm.

The program which you followed here is aimed not only at making you professionally competent in your field of study but also at providing you with a «breadth of vision, a sense of civic and moral responsibility and devotion to the fundamental values of human life».

I am confident that you will make full use of what you have learned at this University in working for the betterment of your communities. May God protect and guide you in this noble endeavour.

President NORMAN BURNS

Dean's Word

My Dear Colleagues :

No group is faced with a greater task than that which faces you. Especially in this part of the world is the task most challenging. The ever increasing pressures of population, rigors of climate and paucity of arable land present problems that would discourage the less courageous from the beginning. Your problem either directly or indirectly will be the production of food under adverse conditions. Let me say that you will never be idle.

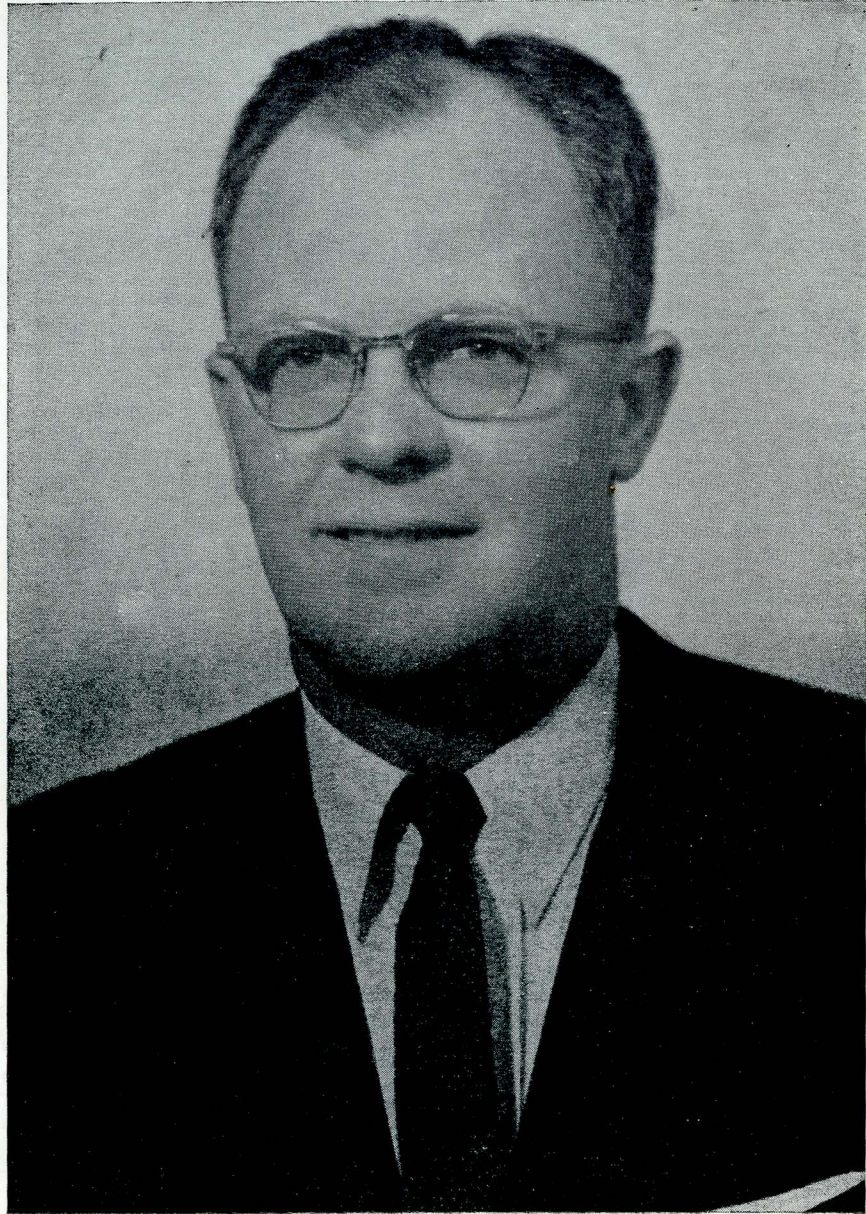

If you are willing to make your profession your life the challenge will be a most rewarding one. Each day will present new problems that were not in the mind before. But as you face these problems always remember that by your work the world lives.

Those of us who are turning the task over to you will watch your progress with interest and I am sure — with pride. Very few of you will be frightened by the magnitude of the task and very few of you will falter by the wayside. If by chance you should always remember we are here willing to give you a helping hand for your failures as well as your successes are ours to share.
